Integrating Sustainability into Future Urban Design -Sustainability for a Better Quality of Life-

The Honda Foundation is committed to the realization of a better future through ecotechnology. With this context, we are inviting you to the Honda Y-E-S Forum in 2021 online. The sustainable Urban design celebrates and creates the ability of communities and wider urban systems to minimize their impact on the environment, in an effort to create places that endure.

The challenges faced by different countries and the possible solutions each country should approach to achieve a sustainable city and the quality of life will be discussed by experienced professors, researchers, and professionals during the forum. language: English only
